Date	Speaker	Information
Tues 27 th April 5-6pm	Dame Vivian Hunt, Senior Partner, McKinsey & Company	Want to improve your productivity? Are you an aspiring leader? Dame Vivian is a globally recognized thought leader on productivity and skills, leadership, and diversity topics. She was previously named 'the most influential black woman in Britain' by the Powerlist Foundation and The Financial Times identified her as one of the 'European Women to Watch' and more recently as the 30 most influential people in the City of London.
Wed 28 th April 5-6pm	Rory Sutherland, Vice Chairman, Ogilvy & Mather	Would you like to know more about consumer behaviour? Are you are interested in behavioural science and economics? Rory works with a consulting practice of psychology graduates who look for 'unseen opportunities' in consumer behaviour – these are the very small contextual changes which can have enormous effects on the decisions people make – for instance tripling the sales rate of a call centre by adding just a few sentences to the script.
Thurs 29 th April 2-3pm	WRAP Panel event with Julie Hill, Chair, Emma Hallett, Team Manager Collaborative Change Programme, Maria Stapleton, Behaviour Change Project Manager & William McManus, Sector Specialist – Food	Green Skills We're excited to welcome Sarah Breeden, Executive Director of the Bank of England. Sarah is currently responsible for supervising over 500 UK banks, building societies and credit unions and she also leads the Bank of England's work on climate change. She has been lucky enough to work on lots of fascinating issues while at the Bank – including Covid, Brexit, managing the Great Financial Crisis and the policy response to that crisis. Sarah will be speaking about the risk that climate change poses to financial institutions and reflecting on her experiences of driving action on climate change forward. To register for this event, please email inspiration@speakersforschools.org
